Overview

This is a community for those using multiscreen setups in their environments. We want this to be a community of techs, artists, VJ's, worship leaders, and creatives to learn, discuss, and share ideas about all things multiscreen. From environmental projection to edge blending; from LED walls to pixel mapped televisions, we are excited to share and grow as a community.

Group Guidelines

We want this to be a place to learn, grow, ask questions, share ideas and come together as a community! Posts and comments should be related to multiscreen visuals, live events, video production, lighting design, stage design or other similar topics as they relate to multiscreen. We would love to see your stage designs! While we will focus on sharing those designs on Mondays, they are always welcome! Let's be social!

To keep conversation relevant, comments should be related to the topic discussed in the associated thread. Let's use this as an opportunity to further the discussion of the topic at hand. If you have something to discuss as it relates to multiscreen, please post about it so we can discuss that as well!

Lets avoid these types of posts or topics in order to stay focused on multiscreen: audio, social media ideas, web design or development, event listings, information technologies, product advertisements, affiliate links, classifieds, surveys, politics, parodies/sarcasm/satire, theological discussions, prayer requests, and non-native photo/video/written content. Yeah, we really just want this to be focused on multiscreen environments.

Refrain from writing offensive, mocking, belittling, shaming, obscene, threatening, abusive or vulgar posts or comments. Foul language, sexually explicit language and other such comments will be removed.

At the sole discretion of group administrators, posts and comments that do not benefit or fit the purposes of the Group may be removed without notice.

Members not abiding by these guidelines will be deleted and banned from the Group without notice. Soliciting for money or any illegal activity will also instantly ban a member from the Group.
